

WHY DOG PARKS ARE A HUGE BAD IDEA!

By Dean Shepherd on Saturday, July 18, 2015 at 8:37pm

I had an article and unfortunately it got removed and lost when they deleted an account of mine. Because I had 2 personal accounts.

It was good and very informative. I really did not want to write it again. Leerburgs sums it all up here and I could not have said it any more accurately than this. IT is so funny how my words are almost identical to his and i have never read it before this day. So here it is!

The only thing not mentioned is..... DOG PARKS ARE A DISEASED STOMPING GROUND.

Every disease you can think of has passed through there. wether or not your OLDER dog doesn't catch anything, doesn't mean he will not bring it home to little baby rover, he most certainly will!

Just like at a vet. What is the first thing you do when you get out of car. Let the dog pee on their grass right? WRONGGGGGGGGGGGGGGGGG

NEVER NEVER NEVER! Then it will cost you thousands and you cannot prove it came from them. Cary them in or take your dog accross the street to pee before entering and do not let them sniff anywhere outside!

All the stuff I learned from my mentor and have come into practice and is now my own knowledge is my own. 50 years of breeding and his father before him. I had a great mentor. It was not leerburg. However. Everything i have read on his site is dead on except for some new training methods. So this is a very good place to trust anything you want from him. An ex German Shepherd breeder himself. He knows what he is talking about.!

Here is the leerburgs article which will tell you the rest!
